

COMMUNITY EDUCATIONAL PRESENTATIONS

For community organizations, senior centers, civic and faith groups

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice is about living, not dying. Learn how hospice supports patients and families in their homes; when hospice is appropriate and how Medicare and insurance companies cover the cost of care. (PR 4106)

Health Care Decisions: Advance Care Planning

A living will and medical power of attorney ensures your wishes will be followed and is the best gift you can give your loved ones. (PR 4109)

Making the Most of Visiting Your Doctor

Learn how doctors organize their time with patients and how to come prepared with information and questions to make the visit a mutually rewarding experience. (PR 4160)

What Is Dementia Anyway?

What changes are normal, and what could be signs of dementia? We offer support to those at all stages of dementia. (PR 4125)

Understanding Grief and Mourning

Grief and loss can be overwhelming experiences, but the more you know about what to expect, the less frightening it is. (PR 4055)

Care for the Caregiver

Caring for a loved one can be both rewarding and challenging. Learn how to optimize your loved one's well-being and take care of yourself in the process. (PR 4142)

Living with Chronic Disease

We have many resources and programs to help patients battling chronic illnesses and support their families. (PR 4122)

Ryan House

Ryan House is a safe haven—providing comfort and specialized care to medically-fragile children and supporting their families. This is the only pediatric respite inpatient home in the Southwest. (PR 4062)

New Song Center: A Bridge of Support for Grieving Children and Families

Children and teens grieve differently than adults. New Song Center's programs help young people process grief and loss. (PR 4647)

Saluting our Veterans

Military veterans deserve special recognition and understanding for their service to our country. Learn how we honor them. (PR 4648)

Coping with Grief During the Holidays

The holidays are often difficult for grieving families. Be gentle with yourself—and develop strategies for moving through a challenging season. (PR 4139)

A legacy of caring since 1977

Are you caring for a loved one with dementia?

Family caregivers often feel overwhelmed, anxious and isolated while they are caring for a person with dementia. They want to keep their loved one at home for as long as possible, but wonder how to make it all work. Support can be provided through the Palliative Care for Dementia program, which is funded through private payment from the patient/family and by grants. Services include:

24/7 phone support

Call anytime and talk directly to a nurse or social worker for advice. No answering service.

Home visits

Home visits from a dementia educator who provides information about Alzheimer's disease and other dementias, behavior management strategies, medications, placement options and living wills.

Ask the doc

Gillian Hamilton, MD, PhD, a nationally recognized geriatrician and dementia expert, can answer your questions by phone and consult with your loved one's physician if desired.

Take time for yourself

If requested and available, weekly caregiver respite by volunteers with special training.
